Founded in 1912, the vacation community of Idlewild in Yates Township, Michigan was one of the few resorts that African Americans could enjoy during segregation.

WELCOME FROM THE CO–CHAIRS

Hello and Welcome!

It is with great excitement that we welcome you to the first annual ACPA-Michigan Conference at the beautiful McGregor Memorial Conference Center at historic Wayne State University. We know there are several other professional development opportunities available to you (and we know budgets are tight), and we appreciate that you've chosen to spend your time with us.

Over the course of the past year, we have been working hard to merge MCPA with the experience, reputation, and enthusiastic atmosphere of our international parent organization, ACPA: College Student Educators International.

We selected the conference theme "Out of the Box" because we felt this was the perfect opportunity to showcase all of the great and innovative thinkers in our field and state. While you are here, it is our hope that you make connections with others, bring home original and ground-breaking ideas, walk away with a fresh perspective, and learn new ways to engage with students.

We are especially grateful to our conference planning team and the Wayne State University McGregor Memorial Conference Center staff who are helping us to achieve this goal. We also want to give a special shout-out to all the amazing program presenters who went out of their way to share their experience and expertise with all of us.

Thank you again for joining us at #ACPAMI16.
We are so happy you're here.

MICHIGAN | DID YOU KNOW?

In 1817 the University of Michigan was the first public university established by any of the states. Originally named Cathelepistemian and located in Detroit the name was changed in 1821. The university moved to Ann Arbor in 1841.

FROM THE TRI–PRESIDENTS

Welcome to the ACPA-Michigan 2016 Annual Conference here in Detroit, MI. With the leadership of our conference co-chairpersons, Dexter Earney and Elizabeth Williams, the conference planning team has developed an amazing opportunity for all of us. Thanks to each of them for all of their hard work and dedication over the past year spent planning! We are excited to be here at Wayne State University and to have a conference theme and style that is anything but traditional. "Out of the Box" is a perfect theme because so many of us are innovators and are always looking at creative ways to do our work in student affairs. Along with the ACPA-Michigan Leadership Team, we are so glad to have you as a part of our organization and to actively engage in local development opportunities that directly relate to your professional life in higher education in the State of Michigan.

ACPA-MI has been instrumental in all of our professional development journeys. We are thankful to all those that have served before us and have mentored us to take on the leadership roles that we have. We have gained valuable experiences and would love to see you get involved as well! ACPA-Michigan is an amazing way to be involved with student affairs at the state level. If you are interested in being more engaged, let's talk! There are plenty of opportunities and many different ways to be an active ACPA-MI member!

As a state affiliate of ACPA, there are more professional development opportunities for our members than ever before. Take advantage of these benefits by becoming a member of ACPA – Michigan prior to joining ACPA to receive a 60% discount off your membership fees. Talk to a member of the ACPA – MI Leadership Team if you have any questions!

ACPA-Michigan is a great organization for all levels of the profession. If you are an undergraduate or a graduate student, use the networking opportunity that this conference presents. New professionals, connect with mentors that can help you to continue to develop, and if you are a seasoned professional, engage with ACPA-Michigan to give back!

Again, welcome to ACPA-Michigan and enjoy the conference!

Heather Sandlin, Amy Radford-Popp, and Colleen Bailey
President, President Elect, and Past President ACPA-Michigan

KEYNOTE: SCOTT GRISSOM

Scott Grissom has been a Professor of computer science at Grand Valley State University since 1999. Research interests include computer science pedagogy in higher education and usability evaluation. However, his passion is transforming a college classroom from students passively listening to lecture to more engaged practices. Grissom explains, "Most students benefit from talking with each other about carefully designed questions rather than listening to me." He served as a Program Office at the National Science Foundation (2009 - 2011) where he was responsible for selecting large research projects worthy of financial support. Grissom was named 2008 Michigan Professor of the Year.

Dr. Jason L. Meriwether is the Vice Chancellor for Enrollment Management and Student Affairs at Indiana University Southeast, which was named one of the "Most Promising Places to Work in Student Affairs" by Diverse Issues in Higher Education in 2015 and 2016. In 2016, he was named to the Southern Indiana Business Source 20 under 40 Class of 2016. In 2014, Jason was selected as one of Louisville Business First's Top Forty under 40 and Business First's 20 People to Know in Education and Workforce Development. In 2014, Jason received the award of Outstanding Kentuckian, and he was commissioned to the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels.

In his role as Vice Chancellor, Jason is responsible for the Student Services Division, which includes Financial Aid, Admissions, Career Development, Athletics, Counseling, Residence Life and Housing, Center for Mentoring, and Campus Life, which encompasses Student Activities, Greek Life, the Adult Student Center, and the Children's Center. He believes that success in student affairs and enrollment management lies in the ability to adapt to new trends in technology and digital engagement, while staying committed to advocacy for learning through collaboration with faculty and academic leaders.

Jason is a contributing author of What Happens on Campus Stays on YouTube, published in 2015. His publication and research interests focus on student retention, adult learning, hazing prevention, and digital media. Jason has presented at numerous national and regional conferences on topics such as legal issues and liability, retention and persistence, student connectedness, education and economics, assessment, strategic planning, professionalism and career trajectory, social media, and hazing prevention. Jason's national presentations on legal issues related to hazing have been the subject of cover stories in the Student Affairs Today Newsletter and in College Athletics and the Law. Jason is a Higher Education and Social Media contributor for Socialnomics.net, and he has been a guest blogger for the NASPA Technology Knowledge Community Blog and the Student Affairs Collective.

In 2014, Jason was elected to the American College Personnel Association (ACPA) Governing Board as Director of External Relations, and he is a member of the ACPA Directorate for the Commission for Student Conduct and Legal Issues. Jason also served ACPA as a member of the Presidential Task Force on Digital Technology in Student Affairs from 2014 - 2015. A current and active member of the National Association of

"Am I There Yet?": A Look at Post-Graduation Stress
Program Type: Lecture | Room: G
Many colleges are increasing efforts to help students' graduate. There exists a growing fear for students entering the "real world". With the uncertainties they face, students may feel overwhelmed in trying to navigate their new situation. Our goal is to examine post-graduation stress and discuss possible ways to assist students.

Felicia Grace | Wayne State University

MICHIGAN | DID YOU KNOW?

Vernors ginger ale was created in Detroit and became the first soda pop made in the United States. In 1862, pharmacist James Vernor was trying to create a new beverage when he was called away to serve our country in the Civil War. When he returned, 4 years later, the drink he had stored in an oak case had acquired a delicious gingery flavor.

#NextGen16

Sponsored and governed by ACPA-Michigan, #NextGen16 is a one-of-a-kind, one-day, and affordable annual summit opportunity that is committed to preparing the next generation of Student Affairs educators from within the state of Michigan. #NextGen16 is for undergraduate students, as well as upcoming or recent college graduates, interested in the field of student affairs.

#NextGen16 takes place on Sunday, October 16, alongside the #ACPAMI16 Conference, at Wayne State University.

This year, there were 36 registered participants at the Next Generation conference.

On top of the intentionally created programming geared towards the future leaders within the profession of student affairs, the participants will also have the opportunity mix and mingle with student affairs professionals as well as eight Higher Education master programs at the #ACPAMI16 Mixer.

Faculty Summit

Every two years, ACPA-Michigan's Faculty Laison invites full and part-time faculty and program/administrative coordinators of higher education and student affairs graduate programs to join us for a faculty summit. The summit includes opportunities for networking, idea sharing, and discussing topics relevant to graduate preparation and faculty life in higher education and student affairs. Participants are encouraged to bring a copy of their favorite syllabus, classroom activity(s), technology, and assessment tools to share with the group.

The ACPA-MI Faculty Summit takes place on Sunday, October 16, alongside the #ACPAMI16 Conference, at Wayne State University.

Many of the participants will also provide insight into their academic programs for potential student affairs professionals at the #ACPAMI16 Mixer, which is a collaborative effort between the conference co-chairs, #NextGen16, and the Faculty Summit.
